

There were 500 alumni who returned to the campus last Saturday to join 4,000 students in an hilarious week-end. It was not only homecoming on the campus—it was also the week-end of the big rugby series with the Saskatchewan Huskies, with the Hardy

Trophy at stake. Shown above are a series of pictures taken at the various events which made up the big day. In No. 1, we have a group of students putting the finishing touches to some of the floats in the rugby parade. In picture 2 are two of the Ag

floats, judged to be best by President R. Newton, Student President Bill Pybus, Hon. A. J. Hook, and Mayor H. Ainlay, shown in the next picture on the judges' stand, by Jasper Ave. and 101st Street. The Mining Engineers' float appears in picture 4. No. 5 shows Nick Lupaschuk, the winning runner in the three-mile cross-country race. Golden Bears and Huskies tangle in the second quarter of Saturday's rugby set-to. In No. 7, The Gateway photographer snapped the honored guests at the main table of Saturday evening's alumni banquet in the cafeteria. In No. 8, Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Cairns please the

War Memorial Aim Vets To Receive Is Ten Thousand Monthly Pay At Hut A, Thursday

Preliminary plans have been formed for a War Memorial Scholarship Drive, with an objective of $10,000, to be held on the U. of A. campus, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7, 8, and 9. Approved by University authorities the objective will be raised by subscription and allotment of caution money.

To render service and in some way to compensate for those who have given the most in the recent war, the Scholarships will be based on academic worthiness and financial need. To ensure fairness and discretion in selecting applicants, a priority system has been formed.

The first priority rating is to the child or children of any Canadian citizen killed on active service with His Majesty's or Allied Forces, or who has died as a result of war service. Second priority is to children of all those with similar service qualifications who are seriously incapacitated physically or mentally as a result of war wounds or service. The next rating is for children of all those who served on Active Service in any of His Majesty's forces or Allied forces and who are, Canadian citizens. Should, during any year, there be insufficient applicants under the first three priorities, the scholarships will be awarded to the child or children of any naturalized or native-born Canadian domiciled in the province of Alberta.

The committee stressed the importance of the fact that students at the University will have a chance to complete their objective before the general public is approached. When the objective has been reached on the campus, the committee will then present the figure subscribed by the students, most of whom are veterans, to the public. The success of the public campaign will depend on the force and enthusiasm shown by the Campus Drive.

CURMA Plans Tuesday Dance For First Social

CURMA's entertainment committee, Gordie McIlroy, Bill Turlock and Pat Patterson have announced that plans are now complete for the organization's first social function of the season. It will be a dance in the Silverglade Ballroom on 105 avenue at 124 St., to be staged from 9:00 p.m. to midnight of Tuesday, Nov. 5. Stan Fraser's band, and their featured vocalist, June Sherwood will provide the music for the evening.

The committee has designed the dance to afford an opportunity for veterans on the campus to become acquainted with one another and it is thus hoped to ensure the success of formal dance planned for the Macdonald Hotel after Christmas.

Patrons and Patrons on Tuesday will be Col. and Mrs. E. H. Strickland and Col. and Mrs. P. S. Warren.

For those who have not received their Gateway, there are a few back issues available at The Gateway office, Room 32, Athabasca Hall.

1. Allowance cheques will be issued to student veterans on Thursday, Oct. 31 between the hours of 12 noon and 4:00 p.m. in Temporary Hut A (beside the Cafeteria).

2. For identification purposes student veterans will be required to produce the University Green & Gold Card obtainable at the General Office on payment of Caution Money for the session ($5.00).

3. Lists of veterans eligible for allowance cheques will be posted in the Arts Building on Wednesday, Oct. 30. If the name of a veteran does not appear on these lists inquiry should be made of the Dept. of Veterans' Affairs representative in Dr. Cook's office (Room 151) or at the DVA Building, or by telephoning 29281, Ex. 38.

4. Inquiry desks will be set up at the entrance to Convocation Hall on Thurs., Oct. 31.

5. It is anticipated that bank facilities will be made available for the cashing of Allowance Cheques at the time of issue in Hut A.

Alumni Feast At Big Banquet Saturday Evening

Two hundred past graduates of our university attended the first Alumni Homecoming Banquet in the cafeteria Saturday night. The atmosphere was made for reminiscences, with green and gold colors decorating the caf completely, and green and gold candles furnishing a soft, flickering light.

Dr. Swift's toast was replied to by Dr. Robert Newton. He stated that it was a pleasure to respond to a toast to the university, and thanked President Pybus and his associates for the work they had done in making the homecoming possible.

Two very excellent violin selections by Ted Lindskoog were then heard by the guests.

Toastmaster Pybus introduced Miss Boyne Johnson, who presented the toast to the Alumni.

Mr. L. Y. Cairns then replied to Miss Johnson's toast, and expressed his great pleasure in having the opportunity to do so. He recalled that he had been present at the first alumni meeting back in 1912 and had seen it grow to its present strength. He mentioned that the one man whose vision of a great alumni made the organization possible was Mr. Geoffrey B. Taylor.

Mr. Cairns brought to mind the fact that not since 1919 when the memorial organ was presented to the university had the Alumni Association faced with a major challenge. This was the Memorial Scholarship drive to provide educational opportunities for the boys and girls of veterans who had given their lives in this last war.

Five Acclamations On Class Slates; Voting Thursday

Information released by Eldon Foote, Secretary of the Students' Council, at press time Monday indicated that five positions on class executives have been filled without contest this year. Acclamations include Gordie Proctor as president of the Senior class; J. A. Pettis, president of the Junior class; J. E. Flavin, secretary-treasurer of the Junior class; M. E. Dougherty, and N. P. Danforth as vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively, of the Sophomore class.

R. C. Thurber, Don J. Duff and William G. Jewitt are nominated for president of the sophomores and Helen McGregor, Elwood Capping, C. R. Thompson and F. G. Dunsmore are contesting the three executive seats for that class.

There are three candidates for the position of vice-president of the Juniors: Beth Tanner, M. June Sigsworth, and Mary J. Day, while for the executive positions T. H. Newton, Don L. M. Hyde, D. Carter, Lois Hill, Eric Comer and Howard Irvine are listed.

There are two contestants each for vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the seniors, namely Marcia Gillespie and Marguerite Weir for the former, Harry Wismer and Archie Greenaway for the latter position. Seven seniors are nominated for the three executive positions: Neil McKay, Jane Becker, Dorothy Jones, Ben Hockhausen, Doug Baines, Mary Boorman, and Frank McEvoy.

Elections will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Thursday of this week and all students are strongly urged to exercise their franchise and vote. There will be ballot boxes in Arts Rotunda and in Education Rotunda and in the University Hospital. Voters' lists have been posted on the bulletin boards around the campus and it is repeated that students must check these lists personally to ensure that their names appear. All errors and omissions must be reported to the Students' Union office in Room 24, Athabasca Hall. No ballots will be issued to anyone who does not show their own Camus "A" card.

Mrs. MacDonald To Speak
On Professional Theatre

There will be a meeting of the Drama Society at 7:15 p.m. on Wednesday, October 30, in Arts 135. Special feature will be an address by Mrs. Richard MacDonald on the topic "Life in the Professional Theatre in England."

Mrs. MacDonald has spent several years on the legitimate stage in England and is well-known in Edmonton for her drama work. She has been lecturer at the University Make-up Club for the last six years and has done a great deal of work on University drama productions.

Miners' Futures In Barren Lands

The Mining and Geological Society held its first meeting in Arts B42 last Wednesday. The afternoon's activities consisted of an illustrated lecture by Dr. Folinsbee of the Geology department, followed by a question and answer session.

Dr. Folinsbee described to the mining and geology students the sort of life that they might expect to lead as graduates, giving as an instance his trip into the barren lands this summer with the Geological and Topographic Survey of Canada.

Kodachrome slides were shown to illustrate the lecture. These pictures showed not only specimens of geological formations, but views of wildlife and scenery that suggest that a geologist's life is an interesting one for the outdoor man.

Malcolm Clark, president of the Mining and Geological Society announced subsequent to the meeting that a schedule of further activities is being planned, and it is expected that meetings of the society will be held once every two or three weeks throughout the remainder of the year.

MEETING TUESDAY

The regular meeting of the Young Married Women's Club, which meets in the Y.W.C.A. Club Room each Thursday at three, will have this week as guest speaker, Miss Mamie Simpson, Adviser to Women Students at U. of A. Her topic: "Budgeting the Housewife's Leisure Time."

Dr. A. C. Twomey Takes Audience On Northern Tour

A large audience filled Convocation Hall last Monday evening to see technicolor films of the Canadian Arctic presented by Dr. A. C. Twomey, U. of A. graduate in Zoology.

Dr. Twomey, a native of Camrose, Alberta, is the Curator of Ornithology at the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh.

He has travelled widely throughout the world on expeditions for the purpose of cataloguing bird life.

The pictures shown Monday night were taken during both these expeditions and edited to make a two-hour show accompanied by an explanatory talk by the lecturer which synchronized with the changing scenes. The technicolor film concentrated mainly on ornithology, giving incidental glimpses of the life of the Eskimos of both the eastern and the western Arctic.

Particularly diverting scenes showed the nesting of the lesser snow geese on the islands of the Mackenzie delta. Close-up pictures of the nest allowed the audience to watch the baby geese hatching.

Other scenes showed the adventures of a baby seal and the migration of the ptarmigan from the valleys of the Richardson Mountains to the delta. There were also scenes of the famous reindeer herd which the Canadian government maintains to provide emergency meat in case of famine due to failure of the supply of caribou for the Eskimos.

Pictures taken at Akavik showed the arrival of the S.S. "Distributor" with the year's supplies, and pointed out the great difference between the modes of life of the eastern and western Eskimos.

Dr. Twomey was introduced by Dr. William Rowan of the department of Zoology, who thanked the lecturer for donating the proceeds of the ticket sale to the University for research.

Hon. N. E. Tanner To Meet Chemists

On Monday, November 4 at eight o'clock in Med. 142, the Hon. N. E. Tanner will address a joint meeting of the Chem Club and the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Institute of Chemistry. His address will concern Research in Industry. Following the talk there will be a film on Polymers, and one on Gasoline.

Preceding the meeting, at seven o'clock in Med. 336, there will be a business meeting of the Chem Club. Discussion will concern the election of class representatives, and the possibility of holding speaker meetings at 4:00 p.m. These will present papers on their research projects.

Anyone who is taking Chem 1 or Chem 40 or any higher course is entitled to membership in the Chem Club, but everyone is invited to attend the meetings.

Wily Wench Eye Campus Males--Operation Waw-Waw

Waw-Waw weekend fast approaches as final plans are made for the greatest girls-ask-boys event ever to take place on the campus. Director Maurice Roe has announced the main features for Friday and Saturday, November 1 and 2. On Friday night, beginning at 8:30 p.m., the Waw-Waw Carnival will begin with a mammoth grandstand show in the Varsity Rink. The grandstand will feature the Varsity dance band, skits, novelty acts, more fun than has ever been presented on any one occasion on the campus. The carnival will have every side-show and midway feature imaginable. Advance tickets for the grandstand go on sale this Thursday and Friday in the basement of the Arts Building at a booth situated just in front of the Bookstore.

Saturday afternoon will see a girls' football game at the Varsity grid beginning at 2:30 p.m. Admission is free. Come and see the only elastic yardsticks in existence as two girls' teams tramp the gridiron at a book situated just in front of the Bookstore.

The Drill Hall will resound to Frank McLeavy's orchestra on Saturday night, 9:00 o'clock, at an informal dance designed to give dancers the utmost in pleasure and satisfaction. Advance tickets for the dance will be on sale in Arts basement on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

November 11 To Be Holiday

On Sept. 30, the General Faculty Council noted that the Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, had been declared a statutory holiday and amended the academic calendar accordingly. Hence all lectures and laboratories will be withdrawn on that day.

Girls To Debate On Co-Education

The Debating Society will meet Wednesday to hear the debate "Resolved that Co-Education is best for the education of students." This is being debated by four girls, first all girl team to be entered in several years.

Entries are being received for the Hugill Inter-faculty debates. Last year these were well entered, and an Education team consisting of Les Gue, now president of the Public Speaking Club and Hugh Kent eliminated Arts, and the former title holders, Law. Applications must be handed in to either Neville Lindsay, Phone 81904, or Lillian Guitard 32332.

Doctor Neilson Addresses Dents

The Dental Undergraduate Society held its first regular monthly meeting of the year last Thursday, when over 70 members gathered in room 111 Arts.

Revision of the constitution and a discussion on the float for the parade were the main topics. At the completion of the short business meeting, Dr. Neilson of the Dental faculty gave a very interesting talk on his stay at Ann Arbor. In closing his talk, he put forward numerous new ideas on clinical dentistry and dental ethics.

The meeting closed with a light lunch consisting of cakes and doughnuts. Plans are being formed to have three dental films shown at the next monthly meeting.

AIR BASE ACCOMMODATION

The situation now developing at the U.S. Air Base housing unit demands the serious attention of the entire student body. Though there are 81 student veterans now in residence at the air base, 29 have already left on account of existing inconveniences.

As of Friday, the inconveniences were to be found in the lack of adequate transportation and the absence of any eating facilities. At present there are two buses which call for the students at 7 a.m. and carry them to the university. There is no provision made for the return journey. Thus a student with an 11 o'clock lecture who wishes to avail himself of the transportation provided must make the trip at an uncancelled hour in the morning—and then must make his own way back in the evening. On Thursday only one bus turned up, and many of the students, believing that a second was to come, missed their classes.

There is also a considerable loss of time without the use of buses. It takes more than an hour to travel each way, and the nearest car line to the air base is eight blocks away—another fifteen minutes.

With regard to eating facilities: the nearest cafe is at the head of the street car line. The minimum cost when eating out is $1.20 per day or $37.20 per month. Add to this $9.50 per month for rent and $3.00 for carfare, and the total is $49.70 per month. When compared with room and board in more convenient locations ranging from $35.00 to $45.00, the difference assumes unresponsible proportions.

Another lack, not quite as serious as those previously listed but worthy of mention, is that of recreational facilities. At present there are none of these, and the prior report of the use of the American theatre has proven erroneous. The loss of time increases the difficulty of downtown recreation and practically cuts these students off from campus activities.

Compare these facts with the promises made to the veterans promises of expenses well within the bounds of their DVA allowance, of satisfactory transportation and dining arrangements and of extensive recreational facilities. Where are they? Or, what is probably more important, why are they not there?

At its inception the scheme was wholeheartedly supported by the provincial government, the university authorities and the Students' Union. This partnership worked energetically for some time to achieve fruition of the plan. Now one of the partners is noticeably reluctant to carry on after the reverses which have been experienced. The university authorities, apart from taking on the administration of the married quarters, have practically withdrawn their support from the project. Their acceptance of any responsibility at all seems to be hesitant. They are now in the process of transferring the responsibility of maintaining the single men's accommodation back to the charge of the provincial government. They have just refused the obligation of transportation between the base and the university.

The authorities state these reasons for their attitude: first, that they do not feel capable of carrying the administrative load required; second, the inability to see how they can commit themselves to any further expense without assurance that additional students will avail themselves of the accommodation offered; and third, the low number of students registered in view of the normal housing already available.

Germany

By Ernie Halton

Ernie is taking second year Arts at the University, and hopes to major in Journalism. He will be writing a series of articles for The Gateway on world problems of international significance.

On Oct. 20, German voters went to the polls in Berlin to register their first free vote since 1932. The result was a decisive Communist defeat. Within a defeated Germany, bewildered and partitioned into the occupied zones of the four great powers, it is difficult to determine an important question that is puzzling all these major powers: will Germany go Communist in future years?

In the American, British and French zones, the Communist party has made little headway. It is estimated that they hold only a uniform 10 per cent of the voting strength. Unlike the Russian zone, all parties, including the Socialists, have strongly resisted all efforts by the Communists to induce them to combine. Many new parties have sprung up in Germany to contest the old line parties. In the new political scene in the western zones these parties have loosely banded together into two major groups; Socialists and non-Socialists. The old Socialist Party with its new party elements has held from 28 per cent to 43 per cent of the voting strength. United under the name of the Christian Democratic Union are most of the other political groups that are both anti-Communist and anti-Socialist.

The actual strength of the Communist party in the Russian section polled a 60 per cent majority for the Socialist Unity Party which is an amalgamation of the Socialist and Communist parties. Does this "majority" indicate that Communism has made such a rapid advance in the last year and a half?

As in many eastern European states, since the conclusion of World War II, the methods of obtaining control of the government apply to the Russian zone of Germany. The Communists usual tactics are to form a "Peoples' Front," a "Fatherland Front," or in the case of Germany the Socialist Unity Front, where their party has not a sufficiently large following. They go out of their way to avoid official power while endeavoring to control ministries by allowing a popular non-Communist Catholic or Socialist leader the "official" control. To consolidate their position they attempt to hold two key ministries; the Ministry of the Interior which usually controls censorship, and the Ministry of Justice which has charge of the police. Thus they gain an influence, within and without the government, out of all proportion to their relative strength.

In the last Russian controlled election they allowed all parties to place candidates up for election unless they had a candidate for every constituency. By intensive propaganda, intimidation, and withholding newsprint from newspapers that were non-Communist, it is surprising that the Germans were able to record a 40 per cent opposition to the Socialist Unity Party.

Germany has suffered a smashing defeat. Her people are suffering from misery and hunger, despondency and hatred. These things alone, apart from our humanitarian instincts, may be condoned as the just aftermath of a ruthless and aggressive nation. But it is this dissension that is the driving strength for Communism in the future. Dissatisfaction, poverty, in fact all the ills of Germany are potential votes for Communism.

The encouraging signs are bright for democracy, but they must be given half a chance to succeed. Russia in the past months has hesitated to endorse the joint four power control of Germany that Secretary of State Byrnes has insistently demanded. She knows her weaknesses. If the Western Allies, especially the United States, do not "pull out" of Germany before democracy has had a chance to show its basic strength, I believe Germany will eventually become a democratic nation, not ruled from Moscow or Washington, but from a free Berlin.

This latter point is bolstered by the fact that the Board of Governors have cancelled plans for a January session, and have thus prevented a possible influx of students at that time who might fill up the vacancies.

These are very good reasons, but it is difficult to understand how they can overshadow the moral obligation to the provincial government, to the veteran students in general and, above all, to the 81 students already resident at the air base. The Students' Union has devoted a great deal of time and energy to this project, and originally offered to cover the cost of transportation from its own funds. The provincial government has been put to very considerable expense in the conversion of these buildings to suitable living quarters. Yet the university authorities are unwilling to commit themselves to any further expenditure because students are not availing themselves of the accommodation offered.

How students, or any one for that matter, can be expected to fall in with a scheme so apparently mismanaged by the group most vitally concerned is beyond comprehension. This scheme was originally undertaken with the long view. This year may not see it as a paying concern, but subsequent classes could and should find it to their advantage to patronize this residence. A purblind attitude has no place in any plan of this sort. There is an obligation incumbent upon all concerned to attend to the welfare of future veterans who may register at this university. It is an obligation which can brook no argument.

The additional administrative load which the university would be required to assume is a difficulty, but in no way can it be considered as an insurmountable obstacle. It is high time that the binding of hesitancy be removed with the purgative of courageous and decisive action. The abandonment of this scheme by the authorities will leave an indelible stain upon the reputation of the university. Only by fully grasping the facts and instituting a positive, constructive policy can the movement of student veterans to the air base be prevented from becoming a saga of "Gullibles' Travels."

500 Alums Welcomed To Campus Last Saturday

One of the most momentous days in the history of this campus was passed last Saturday, when 500 Alberta Alums were welcomed back to the University. The schedule of activities was well planned, and the present study body as well as the honored Alumni had an eventful time.

The big day started off with the Alumni Campus Tour at 10 a.m. This was followed by a Pep Rally in Convocation Hall at 11 a.m., when M.C. Frank Quigley did his job in the usual quick tongued manner. Although it could have been better attended, the rally was a spirited affair, with the cheering squad on hand to lead the yells. Both rugby teams were out in full force and in high spirits about the outcome of the afternoon's game. Alberta Coach Van Vliet welcomed the Saskatchewan team and added that in future he hoped to see pep rallies held for other sports besides rugby. The Huskies gave a fine exhibition of the Saskatchewan yells, and as an enjoyable finishing touch to the whole affair, Foster Scott and Ralph Johnson made their appearance at the piano.

Four budgets, including those of the Evergreen and Gold and the Covered Rink, were not available for final approval, so Council's acceptance of the complete budget is deferred till next meeting. President Newton is to be approached regarding the cancellation of an 11:00 a.m. lecture to allow presentation of the budget to the main body for ratification.

Budgets Discussed At Council Meeting

On Tuesday night the Students' Council turned its attention to the proposed budget of the Union for the year 1946-47, presented by Jack Brennagh. The budget deficit totals roughly $1,000.00.

The major item on the budget is the cost of the Students' Union administration which will be $4,767.50, of which $2,400.00 is the annual salary of the new permanent secretary-accountant. The project requiring the management of the most money is The Gateway, which is budgeting for an income of $9,100.00. Seventy-six hundred dollars of this sum is provided by a $2.00 levy on each student. The Gateway's expenditure will be $8,450.00, leaving a surplus of $650.00. Freshman Introduction Week cost $1,800.00, but the budget was balanced. The Light and Sound Club budget of $490.00 allows for the installation of efficient permanent sound equipment in the Drill Hall, to cost $350.00.

The afternoon activities got off to a bang-up start with the morning football parade at 1:30 p.m. Led by the cheer-leaders' float and the special entry for the Saskatchewan Huskies, this was definitely the best parade in a number of years. Of the thirty odd entries from nearly every club on the campus, the prize-winning Ag float deserved special attention. Judges for the procession were President Newton, the Hon. A. J. Hook, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Economic Affairs, and Mayor Harry D. Almey, who observed the parade from a review stand on the corner of Jasper Ave. and 101st St. Parade Marshal Bruce Allsopp deserves credit in his fine handling of this affair.

As was expected, Clark Stadium was fully packed for the big game, and although the bitter wind drove many away before the end, the final score fulfilled the highest hopes. At half-time the prize for the best float in the parade was awarded to the Agricultural Club, and the three mile cross-country race was run, with Nick Lupaschuk, the winner of the Herald road race in Calgary, coming in first. And, of course, there was the ever-exciting and amusing greased pig race, won by two scampering Sophomores.

The banquet in the University Cafeteria, with about 200 Alumni present, was a wonderful success. L. Y. Cairns, the principal speaker, spoke on the Memorial Scholarship Fund, and Dr. W. H. Swift proposed the toast to the University, with Dr. Newton replying. Toast to the Alumni was given by Miss Boyne Johnson and replied to by Mr. Cairns. Mr. W. G. Pybus was toastmaster.

The Cafeteria itself was beautifully decorated with green and gold streamers throughout the room, and dinner was served by candlelight. Alwyn Scott, along with several girls from Pembina, can be commended for their taste and efforts in decorating. During the banquet Ted Linskog gave a lovely violin rendition of Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the "Viennese Refrain."

Following the banquet and as a conclusion to the day's fun, an informal dance was held at the Drill Hall. The program was planned by the Newman Club, and among the special attractions was the entrance of a Tin Lizzie filled with students dressed to represent Alumni. A special dance was featured with 1912 Alums leading off, followed by the group which graduated between 1914 and 1916, and so on up to the present. The Grand March for the Alumni was led by two gold medalist pipers, with Alumni from coast to coast taking part, and the prize for the Alum coming the longest distance to the reunion was won by a former student from Quebec. Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Cairns, Dr. and Mrs. P. S. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Morrison, Miss Mamie Simpson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pybus.

A great deal of credit is due to all those who spent so much time and effort in planning and making the Homecoming Weekend such a success.

Regulations Concerning Guests in Athabasca Hall

Attention is drawn to the fact that the presence of female guests in student rooms will be considered grounds for expulsion of the student from the residence, and possibly further disciplinary action.

It is not permissible to entertain "lady friends" in (a) lower lounge; (b) upper lounge; (c) anterooms. Individuals representing organized groups desirous of using the upper lounge of Athabasca must first obtain the permission of the warden, after which they must make final arrangements with Mr. Lister, house superintendent.

The lower lounge, except in special cases by approval of the house committee and warden, is reserved for the use of students in residence.

Council decided, in accordance with the constitution, to hold the Freshman Class elections on Friday, Nov. 15, 1946. Campus Club presidents were in attendance to pledge their support in the campaign to raise $8,000.00 for the Building Fund this season. Bill Pybus expressed gratification at the enthusiasm and generosity of the clubs represented. The Music Association, which now controls its own surplus, pledged 50 per cent. of it to the fund. All smaller surplus automatically revert to the Union treasury.

As the wintry winds begin to add their whistle to those of the campus wolves, Yehudi is hugging the fire (romantic, ain't it?), and awaiting an important phone call. It will have to be from some gal who'd like to get some cash from paw, say good-night to maw, and go to the Waw-Waw. Waw-Waw—that's co-ed jargon for "I saw him first—you hussy!"

Yehudi, who is taking honors in excavation (he's always digging dirt), is quite studious as mid-terms near. Mid-terms are the little fiends that add a new phase to the vocabulary of every little freshman, darn it! They begin about now to say, "I'm sorry, I'd like to take you out, but tonight I have to study."

Despite book-pounding, Yehudi took time off Saturday to take in the parade, the game and the dance. Yehudi was so cold at the game that all his memories of it were repressed and frozen into his sub-conscious, and it would take Ingrid "Spellbound" Bergman, Hedy Lamarr plus a blowtorch to bring them back to the light of day again.

Yehudi managed to warm up at the Alumni dance Saturday night when he saw Ken Simpson and Joan Dawson, Jack Fair and Mimie Follett, Sharon Sprung (not Sherry, please, Mr. Linotype Operator) and Bob Rosser, Rae Sutherland and campus-queen Virginia Webb, Donald "I Play the Field" Duff and Peggy Taylor, Bruce Tiffin and Joyce Bellows, Dick Canniff and Edith Cardiff were closer than the mid-term exams, while Ross Anderson was holding Joan Galbraith while she danced. Bob Elliott imported Marj Connaught for the evening.

Norma Shearer appears to have gone football crazy. While Norma was becoming used

JUST FIGURES . . . There are fewer than 4,000 Canadian soldiers remaining in the United Kingdom. To be exact, the figure is 3,896 as of September 30, 1946, and present shipping forecasts indicate that all may be home by the end of November. The to saying "Harry," Jack Brown was accustoming himself to a cute little number by the name of Evelyn.

All of which reminds me that, "Many a girl has thought herself bitten by the love bug, only to find out later that the guy was a louse."

Bob Spencer's faith in mankind in general and blind dates in particular was strengthened when he found himself squiring "Liz" Short. Other substitutes for the Saskatchewan team were noticed—Paul McConnell and Karl Erdman, who drew ruck lucky numbers as Marg Habirk and Wilma Guitard.

Yehudi's still wondering if Bob Faunt ever found Bob Phillips after the Wauneita. Iris Thorogood managed to find him in time for the dance on Saturday, and even took time out to accompany him to Tuck on Sunday afternoon. Don Hyde and Gateway Art Critic Kay Cruikshank are becoming good old standbys at the corner table in Tuck. It gives me great pleasure in seeing this, as Yehudi was beginning to think that only the second and third year had the "Tucked" out look, but with the influx of Freshettes, Yehudi knows that he will be able to sit there and get enough gossip for the next year anyhow.

In the words of the immortal bard:

Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be,
For Waw-Waw's in a day or three,
I hope you there to see!"

(Stinks, doesn't it? But it's mine own.)

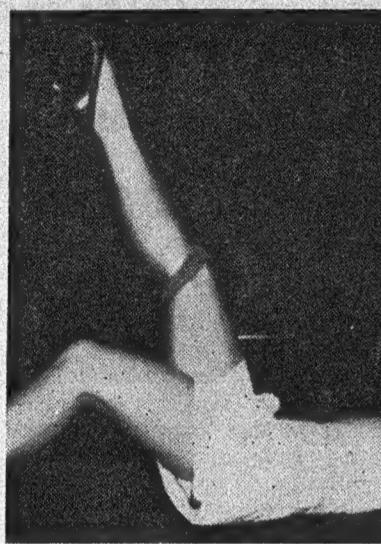

Remember Waw-Waw spelled backwards spells Waw-Waw.

P.S. to Alex Harper: How was the nurses' brawl?

AT THE VARSITY RINK NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

The picture on the left testifies to the amount of practice which the proprietors of the Hoopla booth are carrying out for Friday night's Waw Waw carnival. The object around the shapely limb is not a rolled-down stocking but a skilfully-thrown hoop. Waw Waw Li'l Abner will have the opportunity to test their prowess after the grandstand show at 8:30 p.m. on Friday. On the right is shown the Varsity Dance Band rehearsing for their part in the grandstand performance. In addition to the Band, the feature attractions will be skits prepared by various faculty clubs, novelty numbers by the band, and many other events, to be M.C.'d by Harold Williams. Besides the carnival on Friday night, Waw Waw week-end will see a girls' rugby game at the Grid on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock (admission free) and an informal dance in the Drill Hall commencing at 9:00 p.m. Saturday. Advance tickets for these functions will be on sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Arts Basement.

'TWAS BRILLING

By Mimsey

Many of the alumni members who have been away for several years are trying to get completely up-to-date on what is happening at the Varsity. In this column I will try to assist these fine people by revealing the latest discovery or purpose of several of the faculties and organizations in the University. This information was gathered in personal interviews with the parties concerned.

Physics Department: At present we're working on the development of a pole 11'6" long to be used for touching people you wouldn't touch with a 10' pole.

Infirmary: Students are allowed two ailments.

1. A sore throat, which is cured by swabbing the throat with iodine.

2. Athlete's Foot, which is cured by swabbing the feet with iodine. Any other complaints by students will cause their immediate suspension for impersonating a faculty member.

Classics Dept.: I tried to translate Greek, but it was all Greek to me.

Engineers: It's a set-up. We're the most popular faculty on the campus. We have the best-looking boys. Every girl wants to date an engineer. If we could only read and write, everything would be perfect.

Faculty of Agriculture: Please don't disturb that dirt on my neck, it's a soils experiment.

Languages Dept.: Sacramento, yours leant nicht icl toute das Dios.

Zoology Dept.: The only lower form of vertebrate than an engineer is an engineer from Canada.

SLACKS

By Alfalfa

Of all the minor irritations that spring up in the lives of men, probably one above all stands out for open discussion. We tend to grit our teeth in silence when little boys walk on our toes. But when the chips are down we show our weakness. We can stand the threat of fire or drowning, electrocution or the hangman; we can even stand the threat of the briar patch without flinching—but we can't stand a female in ill-fitting slacks!

Orden Nash expressed our sentiments exactly when he said:

"Sure, deck your lower limbs in pants."

Yours are the limbs my Sweeting, You look so grand as you advance Have you seen yourself retreating?

And this seems to be the point of the whole issue. Despite lengthy observation we have yet to see a pair of slacks that are slack. They all appear on the verge of bursting, and not so much because of the shape of the garments themselves.

As a matter of fact, the design of the things is a great scientific achievement in itself. It corresponds to a widening of the frontiers in our forces of nature. Yet from where we're standing the victory seems somehow to still hang in the balance, like a dam on the verge of bursting.

It has always been a source of wonderment and constant amazement to men, how physicians, hand in hand with fashion designers, have produced a fabric of sufficient tensile strength, unaided and unabated, to withhold the ponderosity of superfluous posterior. The Trojans constructed the horse! The Pharaohs built the pyramids! Cavedish weighed the earth! but above and beyond all these—Schaapelli designed slacks!!! What an engineering feat! It is our contention that De Lesseps wasted his time and talents on the Suez Canal. The right girl in the right pair of slacks can be a joy forever.

On the other hand, the sight of the wrong girl in the wrong (or even the right) pair of slacks can be pretty revolting. Yes, slacks, like life, can be beautiful, but in the words of Vogus "A skirt is always proper."

In conclusion we assure you that we are quite normal and are still susceptible to a petite parcel of pulchritude, and that we feel mentally fit to pass judgment. Of course, no one objects to a well-turned thigh—I mean ankle.

THAT SOMETHING CALLED SHOWMANSHIP

The Hardy Cup is back in Alberta by virtue of the efforts of one of the best Golden Bear grid teams in recent years. It is most unfortunate from the standpoint of the players and the fans that there was so little showmanship attached to the Green and Gold football games. When a college of over 4,000 enrollment has only a cheer leading squad of 10 for 2,000 odd Varsity fans and no band of any kind to play touchdown marches, then the color at a football game is of a drab hue.

There should be no trouble on this campus in organizing at least a 25-piece band, complete with drum majorettes. A group of kilted pipers to march around the Clarke Stadium turf at half time would be splendid crowd entertainment. The crowd like cheer leaders with a brevity of skirts and a unison of movement for the various yells. Water girls in bobby sox, white sweaters, and pedal pusher pants running on and off the field would decidedly add to the color of any contest.

A greased pig contest is always a crowd pleaser, if a touch of Flo Ziegfeld sets off the show. For instance, instead of having the entire student body compete for the porker and thus cause a swarming melee with no one seeing the sport except those in pursuit of the Swift's product, why not have a group of Green and Gold co-eds clad in football gear pursue the beast in centre field?

All these things add up to one thing—showmanship, and it makes a football game or a boxing match, or a hockey game colorful for the fans. After all, John Q. Fan pays to get in and he likes flavor added to his football bill of fare. From a fan's point of view there is more to a game than thrilling end rushes, and 90-yard runs. When his team scores a touchdown he wants to stand on his feet and cheer that team to the accompaniment of a band playing a rousing touchdown march.

We could be wrong, but if we are, then the students in thousands of colleges across the continent are wrong. Ask our sister university at Manitoba . . . they have football games with all the trimmings regardless of whether their pigs in bobby sox, white sweaters, and pedal pusher pants running on and off the field would decidedly add to the color of any contest.

The Golden Bears and Huskies were guests of the local M.A.B. at a banquet in the Merrick Embassy Room last Saturday night. The fellows enjoyed double helpings of the main course and the lack of speeches. Ron Manery is to be complimented on having arranged the evening as is Boyne Johnson for securing lucious co-ed dates for the Huskies.

HINT: The college grapevine has it this week that the Golden Bear football team is planning a hockey team composed of the same behemoths who won the Hardy Cup. Percy Daigle is the mentor of this "Dream Team." He has a lot of collective talent for his puck squad and expects to give the Golden Bear hockey team a bruising battle when the two aggregations clash.

Could be.

As a last mention of the rugby season it is in order to toss a posy or two, to the behind-the-scenes-men on the Bears. Gordie Proctor handled the business for the squad this season in admirable fashion. Al Batcheller was busy all year looking after equipment, and George Moonie had his work cut out for him in taking care of the aches and bruises the guys picked up on their way to the Hardy Cup. Nice going, fellows.

Varsity Football Parade Draws Thousands to Streets

Four hundred yelling Varsity students wound through downtown Edmonton on Saturday afternoon in the second post-war football parade. Starting from the campus at 1:30 p.m., the procession traversed down 112th Street, up 87th Ave., to 109th Street, then down 109th Street across the high level bridge. Even the numbing north wind failed to stop the cheering as through chattering teeth sent Varsity songs echoing down the Saskatchewan river valley.

The parade was delayed at 98th Ave. for a few minutes by the Ag hayrack, then continued on to Jasper. Led by a green and gold-decorated jeep, over forty other vehicles exhibited their processional paraphernalia to the thousands of Edmontonians who jammed the streets to view Varsity exhibitionism at its latest. Some citizens frowned, some smiled, and some even laughed at undergraduate ingenuity. They saw the Green and White float constructed under the direction of Bob Rosser for the Saskatchewan visitors, the Med students standing over their meat-covered operating table, the Aggies and the floats they always take seriously, the red-smoke bombing Honors Chems, the Commerce Club's Privy Council, from the largest entry down to the smallest Dent student Cecil Compton and his skilfully manoeuvred unicycle.

Hundreds of camera shutters clicked. Straw and flour were thrown back and forth, even over-ripe bananas, as one irate policeman discovered.

From a Green and Gold decorated reviewing stand at First Street and Jasper Ave., President Robert Newton, the Hon. A. J. Hooke and Mayor H. D. Ainlay judged the long line of floats.

The city provided a police motorcycle escort for efficiency, so the parade continued on through red lights, with a minimum of traffic snarls. At 95th Street, as it turned the corner, the Varsity football squad bus embarrassingly broke down. Our Husky rugby team tried vainly to push its vehicle inward, but soon gave up and finished its ride to Clarke Stadium on the Aggies' tractor-pulled float.

At half-time during the game Mayor Ainlay presented a trophy to Union President Bill Pybus, who accepted the cup on behalf of the prize-winning Ags, whose motto for the parade this year was "Ags in the merits."

Side features during half-time were the greased pig race, in which Jack Brown and Roy Gould proved themselves winning greased pig catchers, and the three mile cross-country race, which was won by Nick Lupaschuk of Herald road race fame.

Bears Beat Huskies For Hardy Cup

Alberta in Third Straight Victory Saturday Afternoon

By Greg Fulton

In an exhibition game played last night at Clarke Stadium, the ears made it four straight over the Huskies with a 19-6 victory. With nothing at stake, both teams opened up with dazzling passing plays, and the small crowd was treated to the best football display seen here all season. Huskies took the lead in the first quarter on a McFadyen to Woodman touchdown pass, converted by Lee Williams. Bears tied it up as MacDonald intercepted a forward and galloped 40 yards for a major score. Hajash converted. Ingram put Alberta ahead for good with a kick to the deadline just before half-time. In the second half, a Fraser to DeFraine pass and an Ingram to Hobbs effort were both good for tries. Hajash converted on a pass to Fraser, and Ingram kicked a convert to end the scoring.

For the third time since it was donated by Prof. E. A. Hardy of the University of Saskatchewan some 20 years ago, the Hardy trophy is the property of the Alberta Golden Bears. By virtue of a 14-5 victory at Clarke Stadium, Saturday afternoon the Van Vliet-Daigle coached squad have made it three straight over the Saskatchewan Huskies, and thus take their place of reverence alongside the previous championship teams of 1928 and 1944.

The game produced more thrills than any of the previous efforts witnessed here this season, and the chilled crowd, which included a large section of Alumni, found lots to cheer about as a courageous, fighting bank of Huskies tried valiantly to stop the greatest Golden Bear team ever assembled. The highlight of the contest came in the second quarter as Jim McFadyen, Huskie halfback, caught the Bears napping on a left end sweep and galloped 87 yards for a major score. The Huskies also uncovered a dazzling pass attack that saw them complete seven out of 13 attempts.

The Golden Bears got off to a flying start in the first quarter and indications pointed to a rout as they gained seven first downs and rolled up a total of 130 yards rushing, as compared to one first down and 22 yards for Saskatchewan. Ken "Fleet Foot" Fraser opened the scoring with a 20-yard mad dash around right end for the first touchdown. Hajash converted as Alberta had a 6-0 lead as the first session ended.

Saskatchewan made a great comeback in the second quarter as they outrushed the Bears and held them in check. After McFadyen's great touchdown run, his convert attempt was blocked by Ken Moore, hard charging Alberta tackle. The half-time score was Alberta 6, Saskatchewan 5.

THE WHIRLING DERVISH

Eric MacDonald

The most improved player on the Golden Bears in recent games, scored touchdowns against the Huskies on Saturday and again last night.

Good Basketball Team Assured This Season

The basketball season is here once more. Varsity teams are practising every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the Drill Hall. The practises are being well attended and from the group of hoop artists a senior and junior team will be selected.

Several of last year's senior Bears are back this season. Phil Proctor, Jim McRae, Don Steed, Bill Rich, Bob Strothers, Gordon McCormack, and Bill Price are holdovers from the 1945-46 edition of the Bears. New names that may appear on this year's roster are Don Blue, last year with the Edmonton Legion Vets; Evan Erickson and a nifty from Saskatchewan, name of Oberhoffer. One of last season's stars, Bill Hansen, is in Utah this winter. His loss will be something of a problem to offset.

Varsity is entered in a six team city league. Besides two Green & Gold squads, the league will be comprised of the R.C.A.F., Edmonton Legion Vets, City Police, and the L.D.S. A schedule has not been drawn up to date, but it is anticipated that the Golden Bears will be playing in the Drill Hall every Friday night when the season officially commences.

Assistant Coach Henderson and head coach Maury Van Vliet have not as yet begun to "weed out" any basketball talent they have. If this happens to be any football talent going to waste in the study halls, then Messrs. Van Vliet and Henderson would like to see it.

The third quarter saw the Bears pull out ahead and salt the game and the championship away for good. A safety touch, called by Referee Pep Moon when Ross' kick hit his own lineman behind his goal line boosted the count to 8-5. Eric MacDonald picked a hole in the Huskie line and shook loose for a neat 41-yard touchdown run to make it 13-5. The convert was wide. Ken Moore ended the scoring as he rouged McFadyen late in the session for another point.

The fourth quarter was scoreless and uncomfortable as the cold wind hampered both the teams and the fans. With Les Williams leading the way the Huskies tried to crush the scoreboard again, but to no avail.

With big guns Hobbs and Hajash not playing quite up to par, Fraser and MacDonald shone brilliantly as they carried most of the mail for Alberta. Big Rae Sutherland, Norm Giffen, and Jack Perry proved disastrously effective along the line. Along the Saskatchewan line, McMillan was a tower of strength, as were Toskett, Kemp, Lewis and Kroeger. Williams and McFadyen were the Huskies' heavy artillery in the backfield.

Curlers Make Preparations For Coming Winter

The Varsity Curling Club will swing into action on Tuesday, Nov. 12. That is the important decision coming out of the organization meeting of the club last week. The deadline for the payment of fees was set at Nov. 4. On that date, a "payment of fees" meeting will be held in Med. 158, at 4:00 p.m. All curlers are asked to have their dues paid on or before that date.

The curling for the season will be played in the Granite Rink, two blocks east of the Garneau theatre. Rocks and brooms are included in the $5 season fee. Each curler is assured of two games a week, between four and six in the afternoon. A bonspiel will be staged early in 1947. There is every possibility of Intervarsity Curling being inaugurated this winter, and if the project is arranged, Alberta will be represented.

A rink from the Varsity Club is entered in the Harvest Bonspiel now being staged by the Granite Club. This rink is composed of John Melnyk, Lloyd Kjorven, Alf Dion, and Dick Beddoes.

The executive for the season is led by John Melnyk, president; Don Brundage, vice-president; Dick Beddoes, sec-treas.
